In order for users to utilise health IT properly they must possess the necessary competencies. Moreover, health IT has to be capable of supporting healthcare processes and applications. To this end, not only users but also developers have to possess the necessary competencies. This workshop, therefore is dedicated to exploring education for digitalisation from different perspectives and takes the international viewpoint into account. The workshop is organised by different GMDS groups (WG Nursing Informatics and Präsidiumskommission „Curricula der Medizinischen Informatik“) together with the EU*US_eHealth_Work project funded by Horizon2020 (www.ehealthwork.eu) and TIGER (<http://www.himss.org/professionaldevelopment/tiger-initiative>). The overall goal of the EU*US_eHealth_Work project is to measure, inform, educate and advance eHealth and health information technology skills, work and workforce development throughout Europe, the United States and globally. In conjunction with stakeholders from the US, the EU and around the globe, it is surveying, mapping and analysing eHealth skills and competencies, providing access to knowledge, tools, resources and platforms, and strengthening, disseminating and exploiting success outcomes for a digitally skilled Transatlantic eHealth workforce.
